

ponderings

The following are lamentations of the built environment, the architectural profession and other assorted observations.

nowhere now here

CLICK HERE

Our built environment no longer reflects that there's a there, there.

lead pencils

CLICK HERE

Design was better when it was done with pencils.

visible chaos

CLICK HERE

The muddled built environment is a reflection of society.

evolution

CLICK HERE

An edict for evolving the past, not throwing out the past.

protected

CLICK HERE

The practice of architecture has ignored its ethics.

fashion

CLICK HERE

Current architects express faith in technology, in lieu of humanity.

DAVID STRABEL R.A.

Brockport, New York 14420
585-637-5346
dave@davidstrabel.com

architect