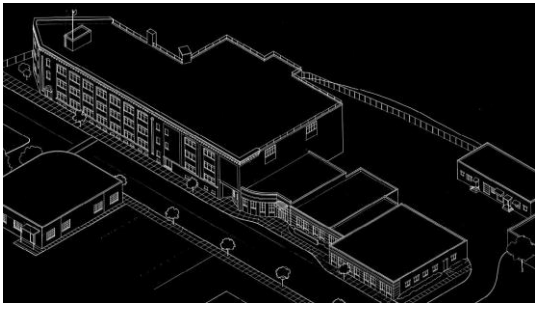
PROJECT DESCRIPTION

This project connected the owner's existing three story building to two smaller independenet buildings with infill construction between each and tied together with a new façade. One of the infills created a new entry way for the complex that accommodated a new ramp and elevator into the existing building. The two connected buildings created new clinical space, offices, and a resource center which included a public loan braille library. All aspects of the project were designed with sensitivity for those people who are blind or visually impaired.



PARTICIPATION

All design and drawings were prepared by David Strabel with assistance from Allen Heurtley at Martin Rose Associates which included schematic plans and a full bid set of construction documents complete with structural, mechanical and electrical drawings.
